ABRAHAM AND STRAUS MATTHEWS

A Very Important Sale of

Our February Sale of Table Ware, which begins to-morrow, marks the formal opening in the new building of our new

China and Bric-a-Brac Store (Basement).

Cut Glass and Silverware Store (Main floor, court).

In point of size and handsome appointments their equals are not to be found in this country, while the extent and variety of the stocks are unsurpassed by any like collections in the world.

Amid such surroundings and with such vast assortments to draw from, the choosing of Table Ware is certainly a pleasure, and when, in addition, you get the benefit of lower prices than those generally prevailing, the opportunity thus afforded for supplying your wants in these lines becomes almost irresistible. We accentuate the opportunity during this February Sale by offering extraordinary values, of which those quoted below are specimens:

New Printed Organdies.

Fourteen thousand yards of the daintiest and prettiest Organdies-in new Parisian patterns, printed on white grounds, go on sale to-morrow at 12½c. a Yard.

These Organdies are sold extensively as foreign goods, but they are in reality American made, and we take pride in offering them as such. In quality, finish and designs they closely resemble the higher priced French productions, yet they cost about one-third.

The excellence of these Organdies points to the fact that it won't be long before Yankee wit will outstrip foreign talent in the production of cotton fabrics, as it has in the making of Play was resumed in the Long Island interscholastic handball tournament at the courts of the Adelphi Academy, Brooklyn, yesterday morning. The contesting teams were from the "Poly Prep" and Brooklyn Latin schools, the former winning by 5 games to 4. The followers of both schools were on hand in large numbers. It took nine games to decide the contest. The first game, between L. Frothingham and Chadwick, and the sixth, between Ludlam and C. Frothingham, were the best played. In the latter game Frothingham had a winning lead up to the eleventh hand, when Ludlam served in great style and rolled up six points, winning the game. Scores follow:

1. Frothingham, "Poly." 21; Chadwick, Latin. 19. C. Frothingham, "Poly." 21; Berking, Latin. 12; Ludiam, Latin. 21; Robinson, 12; C. Frothingham, 17; Robinson, 21; C. Frothingham, 17; Robinson, 21; Berking, 18. Ludiam, 14. Robinson, 21; Chadwick, 8. Points—"Poly." 169; Brooklyn Latin. 189.

HER HUSBAND CAME TO CHURCH. Mrs. Rose Ettered a Shrick and Fainted-Thought It Must Be His Chost

READING, Jan. 25 .- During last evening's service at the Baptist chapel at Milmont Mrs. Lauretta Rose occupied one of the pews, and when a man was shown to the same woman uttered a shrick, swooned, and fainted. The man was her husband, a respectable me-chanic and good citizen. He assisted in restoring his wife to consciousness. She was then helped home, where at midnight she was able to explain as follows:

"When I saw the man enter the pew I knew he looked like my busband. Then I thought it was his shadow, or his spirit, and that something terrible had happened to him, probably
